John Smith, Caught Robbing a Grocery Store, Takes to His Heels and Defends Himself With His Revolver—The Men Shoot at Each Other For Two Minutes and Neither One Hit-Leader of the "Stable" Gang.

There was a lively exchange of shots upwn early this morning between Policeman G. H. Kane and a burglar who rejoices in the liar name of John Smith.

empanied by a companion, Smith made apt to rob the grocery store at One Hundred and Sixth street and Lexington avenue, and, being discovered by Policeman Kane, took to his heels and ran like a deer. The policeman pursued him through Lexington avenue to One Hundred and Fifth street, calling upon the fleet-footed burglar to halt and emphasizing these remarks with pistol shots. After a lively run Smith entered the New York Central Railroad tunnel at One Hundred and Fifth street, and as Kane followed drew a revolver and opened fire on the policeman. The two men spent the poxt two minutes shooting at each other without accomplishing anything. Then the policeman made a quick bound, and, throwing his full force upon Smith, he sent him sprawling on the ground. He quickly had the nippers around Smith's wrists, and, having supplemented this treatment by a few well-directed prods from his club, his prisoner became submissive and was safely conveyed to the East Eighty-eighth Street Police Station-oultse, where he was locked up.

Wher the workmen approached the oven an explosion occurred, the force of which threw the heavy iron door of the oven into the middle of the room, shattered a large gkylight above, pieces falling into the room, and blew away the remainder of the roof.

WHO MURDERED HIM?

The Man Found in a Carriage at Chicago Was a Pennsylvania Mechanic. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—It is discovered that the man found dead yesterday in a carriage shipped from the East is Charles Horn, a shipped from the East is Charles Horn, a mechanic of Bridgewater, Pa. From all that can be learned by telegraph Ferris left Bridgewater Sunday night for Pittsburg. He probably got on a freight train to steal a ride to Beaver and got into a quarrel with some tramps, who shot him. A ticket for a reception which was found in Ferris's pocket took place Thursday evening at Bridgewater, Pa. A close examination at the Morgue of the body revealed a wound evidently inflicted by a pistol ball immediately above the right eye. A portion of the forehead was also crushed in as if by a heavy blow, and the base of the skull was fractured from behind. No pistol was found in or about the vehicle.

It is believed that the murder was committed somewhere near Rochester, Pa. The side tracks of the Pennsylvania road there are in a deserted locality, and there would be ample space to stow the corpse away in the carriage by removing the bars of the crate and nailing them in place again.

ago yesterday, in a carriage shipped from New York to that city, was murdered here. His relatives from Beaver County, who are investigating the case, say that the suicide theory is entirely false, and declare that he was not a drinking man. He worked at his trade at East Bridgewater until last Saturday and came to this city on Sunday afternoon. There is no information of his leaving town and the inference is that he was murdered and his body snuggled aboard the freight train while it was at the depot. The case is now being worked up on that theory.

St. Louis's Eucampment Surplus [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]

St. Louis, Oct. 29,-The local Executive Comtee of the Grand Army Encampment will have between $6,000 and $10,000 on hand after paying all the bills for the encampment, and are now in a quandary as to what to do with themoney, which is a part of $100,000 raised by individual subscriptions. Public sentiment here is for devoting it to securing the Democratic and Republican National conventions next summer and to entertaining the delegates in case the conventions meet here, and to this cause the money will, in all probability, be dedicated. In case St. Louis gets neither convention the money or what is left, will be devoted to the National Saengerfest, 40 be held here next year.

His Friends Think That His Mind bas Be come Affected.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVERING WORLD.] CRICAGO, Oct. 29 .- As the time set for the execution of the Anarchists approaches, August Spies seems to be losing heart, and those who are nearest to him begin to fear that his mind has become affected. He pays little attention to the efforts of his wife, by proxy, Nina Van Zandt, to cheer him up. Spies wears a continual frown and is in the lowest wears a continual frown and is in the lowest of spirits.

The other condemned men still maintain their self-possession, and affect to look forward with hope to the efforts of their counsel to secure a judgment in their favor from the United States Supreme Court. George Schilling yesterday brought them a cheering message from their lawyers at Washington.

It is noted here as a curious circumstance, that of the many petitions received by the Governor for relief and clemency, there is but a single formal appeal, and that comes from a small interior town in New York State, to which only eight names were attached, one being that of William D. Howells, of Boston. The other communications consist of personal and individual petitions for clemency.

Thus far no petitions made in the proper legal form, have been received. When questioned as to whether he would consider a case of pardon or commutation of sentence which had not been made in accordance with the legal requirements, the Governor said:

"I presume the Governor might on his motion and without any application pardon out of the penitentiary any convict he chose or any number of them, and that if he did, they would be safely out, but the Governor would be liable to impeachment."

COAL-HEAVER GRAHAM'S DEATH.

Capt. Rusk Says that it Was Due to Natural Causes.

Chief Engineer William R. McCullogh, of the Mallory line's steamship Comal, who has been accused of causing the death of John H. Graham, a coal-heaver on the Comal, during her last trip to Galveston, was seen this morning by veston, was seen this morning by an Evening World reporter. He did not wish to make any statements for publication, but preferred to remain quiet until he was called for trial at Galveston before the United States Court next month.

Capt. Rusk, of the Comal, who reported that Graham died a natural death, said: "As soon as Graham's death was reported to me I instituted a thorough investigation into every circumstance connected with it. I had the body thoroughly examined, and I can truthfully say that it gave no indication of having been assaulted in any way. No marks or bruises were on it, and to strengthen my statement I got several passengers to examine it, who have been retained at Galveston as witnesses. The coal-heavers who were on duty with Graham, did not complain to me of having seen the deceased cruelly treated, and so far as I could ascertain not one of them had one word of complaint to make against the chief engineer. Graham was found dead in the engine room. He had previously complained of being ill, and I concluded that his death must have been caused by the heat, superinduced by cramps." duced by cramps."

Mrs. Young said that a gentleman had given her the parrot and that Walker had wrung the bird's neck through jealousy.

Walker said that could not be possible, as he carried the keys. He said that Mrs. Young had got trust on the pretense that she was his wife. He was held in $300 bait to keep the peace.

FOUND DEAD IN A SHOE BOX,

HORRIBLE DISCOVERY BY A CONDUCTOR ON A LEHIGH VALLEY TRAIN.

Mutilated Remains of an Unknown Mar to Fit its Rough Comn, Which is Cov-Possible Cine to the Identity of the Man.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] ELMIRA, Oct. 29.—Conductor Raymond, of the Lehigh Valley wild train, reported at an early hour this morning the finding of a man's dead body on board his train, and as the facts became known the affair has created a big sensation. The body had been cut to pieces and packed into a shoe-box. All evidences indicate that the package was put or board the train at Elmira.

The conductor reports that he passed over his train at Addison and Corning from the caboose to the engine and that he stopped his train just before entering Elmira and his train just before entering Elmira and spent some time in switching cars at the Southport yards, just outside the city limits. On going over his train again at Waverly he discovered the box.

The remains are those of a man of middle age. The top of the head has a huge gash across it, and the forehead is badly disfigured, as if a blunt instrument had been used in the murder. The lower part of the face is unharmed. The blood had dried on the flesh and every particle of clothing had been removed to prevent identification. The box was badly spattered with blood, showing that the gorpse had been put in very soon after the crime. The arms and legs had been cut off, in order to allow packing in the short box. A coroner was called from Waverly and the body was taken off the train at South Waverly.

and the body was taken on the carrier waverly.

James Gray, of Gillett's, Pa., left his home a few days ago and has not been seen by his relatives since. His wife was in Elmira yesterday looking for him, and said that when he left home he carried $800 with him of back pension money just received, and he came to Elmira to buy a suit of clothes. Whether the body is that of the missing man is not yet known.

Two Tough Tarriers.

(From a New York Letter.)
New York produces grim children in some of its wards. I was attracted by a three-year-old sample of the gutter-haunter. He wore a checkered dress and stood about twenty-eight inches high in his bare feet. An indescribable hat with a portion of visor was pulled down hard over one eye, so that only the other eye was used in watch ng the ways of the world. He was evidently a ng the ways of the world. He was evidently as very serious young gentlemen. He paused in an effort to make a younger stater of his stand on her head in a puddle of water to shout, "Hey, dere!" to a very square, high-hipped gray horse that a man was leading along the street. The horse was caught by surprise, and he let his heels fly to show his timidity. He thereby ranked the young man who was leading him nearly off his feet. The latter cast a terrible look at the author of the trouble and said:

Prittsburg, Oct. 29.—Evidence is accumulating that Charles Horn, whose dead bedy was found in Chicago yesterday, in a carriage shipped from New Chicago yesterday, in every few days some of the fishermen bring in one of a man or an animal in a moment. When they are attacked they throw out a black secretion which clouds the water confuses their antagonist and enables them to escape. They are very hardy. They will live for three or four days after being taken out of water. I am going to try and take the next big one I catch to the East. They can be transported without much trouble."

Where Beautiful Women Congregate. [Pittsburg Dispatch's New York Letter.]
The largest assemblages of feminine beauty in America are at what are called " professional" or "authors" matinées in this city. On these occasions the house is practically free to actraases at a time of disongagement. One of them occurred this week. At least six hundred women were there, and the majority were young actresses ranging from Mrs. Langtry and Mrs. Potter in beauteous fame to exhibits from the burlesques and comic opera choruses. Langtry sat between a girl from the mute but lovely rear row of a current travesty and a pupil from a school of acting, either of whom was handsomer than she. When it is considered that physical beauty is the most important element in the selection of actresses, and that New York is the market for histrionic aspirants, it can be believed that an audience so largely composed of actresses was marvellously handsome. A good photograph of that crowd, with their vast variety of beautiful faces and their actressy picturesqueness of attire, would be a picture to never tire of looking at, 'authors'" matinées in this city. On these occa-

My testimony in favor of Adamson's Botanic Balsam will be but an addition of many who can testify by experience the marvellous cures effected by its use. My case is not an ordinary one. Fo twenty years I have suffered from a bronchial ough, never lying down without a severe attack of the same. After much persuasion I was induced to try your Balsam, and its good effects for six months is certainly marvellous. Please use this truthful testimony for the advantage of all sufferers like myself. Mrs. WM. J. ALDEN, Feb. 21, 1887.
